The Verdict

OF ALL who have used Ayer's Pills for Bilelessness and Liver Complaint, it is they are the best ever made.

Being free from any mineral ingredients, and sugar-coated, Ayer's Pills are adapted to all ages, constitutions, and climates.

Some joggle or house-pose General Mahone succeeded in convincing the Republican National Committee that the Garfield ticket had no chance of winning and that the best course for the Republicans to pursue would be to support General Mahone's Hancock ticket.

Agents were sent to this State by the committee to try to induce the Republicans to abandon their Garfield electoral ticket and vote the Mahone-Hancock electoral ticket.

Circumstances and letters signed by prominent Republicans were sent broadcast over the State advising this inexplicable course, and, as the result showed, they succeeded in carrying off many thousand Republican votes, thus reducing Garfield's vote to 83,639, and running the Democratic Hancock up to 127,079. You will therefore see that the 30,000 votes given for Garfield did not represent the full Republican strength, as the Judge-Hancock ticket got many Republican votes. As an overwhelming proof of this I give you the fact that ten years before this time the Republicans had cast nearly 102,000 votes for General H. W. Wells, the Republican nominee for Governor, and that, too, when he was handicapped by having a colored man on the ticket with him as a candidate for Lieutenant Governor.

Now you will admit, as all must admit, that the figures of 1880 are of no account in estimating the increase in the Republican vote under General Mahone's leadership.

Let us now turn to 1881, when Governor Cameron, Republican, was elected over Major John W. Stevenson, one of the present Democratic United States Senators from Virginia. In that year Cameron received 111,473 votes and Daniel 99,757, leaving nearly 12,000 Republican majority. In the last election Cleveland received in Virginia 151,977 and Harrison, 150,433. Thus it will be seen that the Democrats have increased their vote since 1881 by FIFTY-TWO THOUSAND TWO HUNDRED AND TWENTY, while the Republicans have only increased theirs by thirty-nine thousand nine hundred and fifty-six. This does not speak well for General Mahone's leadership, even if these figures were to be considered without regard to the effect which the repeal of the poll tax as a prerequisite to voting had in increasing the vote. But we are compelled to call attention to our State constitution requiring the prepayment of the poll tax in order to enable a man to vote, and when we consider that this amendment had been placed in our constitution by Democrats, ardently to reduce the colored Republican vote, and when we also remember that this payment of the poll or capitation tax as a prerequisite to voting was repealed by the Republican Legislature which was elected in 1881, and the time Cameron was elected Governor, we can easily estimate that General Mahone, by his arbitrary methods, must have driven off thousands and thousands of those who voted with us in 1881.

This is as plain as a nose on a man's face when we reflect that the repeal of the poll tax as a prerequisite to voting had increased the colored Republican vote about 40,000 and the white Republican vote by at least 10,000, while the Democratic vote was in all probability not increased to the extent of over 15,000. Thus if we add to the Republican vote of 111,473 in 1881, the increase of 50,000, set free by change in the poll tax arrangement, together with the natural increase in population in nine years, we ought to have largely over 162,000 Republican voters, while the Democrats, giving them the 150,000 added by the change in poll tax law and natural increase of population, ought not to have much over 115,000 voters.

This is as plain as a nose on a man's face when we reflect that the repeal of the poll tax as a prerequisite to voting had increased the colored Republican vote, and failed checks often come when enjoyment of life should be at its height.
